Tech-Site Focus:

The objective of the Intelligent Uses of Precious Metals in Microelectronics Tech-Site is to have a unique forum that brings together scientists, engineers, manufacturers, academia, and business people from around the world who have been working in the area of Microelectronic packages and use Precious Metals in their applications. This workshop has been specifically organized to allow for the presentation and discussion of some of the best ways to economize and save cost with a valuable set of commodities.

Semicon West is a unique large exhibition of semiconductor equipment, materials and service suppliers. The opportunity to present on the exhibition floor of Semicon West provides a large audience for your presentation.

- Uses of Precious Metals in Microelectronics
- Recovery/Recycling/Refining
- Precious Metal Trading
- Future Outlook for Precious Metal Prices
- Cost Savings Techniques and Technologies
- Leasing and Pool Accounts
- Advantages of Precious Metals over non Precious Metals
- Substitute Materials
- Volume Reduction (diameter, thickness etc.)
- New Applications using Precious Metals

Those wishing to present a paper at the Intelligent Uses of Precious Metals in Microelectronics Tech-Site must submit a 200-300 word abstract electronically no later than April 30, 2010, using the on-line submittal form at: www.imaps.org/abstracts.htm. Full written papers are not required; however, an extended abstract of 1-4 pages is due for accepted presenters no later than June 18, 2010.

Please contact Jackki Morris-Joyner by email at jmorris@imaps.org or by phone at 202-548-4001 if you have questions.

Accepted papers may be considered for publication in the IMAPS Journal of Microelectronics and Electronic Packaging. All Speakers are required to pay a reduced registration fee and are required to attend the entire event.
